BOSS POHLMAN'S PLAN.

How He Has Captured the Republican Party Machine.

Deputy Sheriffs Name the

the Polling Places.

Sheriff Pohlmann's Assistants Will Be in the

Polling Booths and on the Delegates

on Election Day, Unless the Program is Changed—He Will Name the Ticket—

Democratic Candidates for Mayor Working Hard—The Campaign.

HERIFF POHLMANN and his deputies moved at a double-quick pace to-day. The programme has been exposed and all the influences hostile to the ring ticket are uniting to break up the arrangement. The candidates for the Municipal are exceedingly active. Mr. D. P. Slatery's friends feel that he is being made to bear more of the burden than should fall to his share. When waited on by Congressman Niedringhaus and John W. Gates with a request to make the race for Mayor he positively refused. Stronger influence was brought to bear, and after taking forty-eight hours in which to consider the invitation he finally accepted. The friends in the Central Committee of the citizens who induced him to enter the race had, in the meantime, arranged a scheme to obtain control of the convention and the power to nominate the ticket from top to bottom. They could not fight the influence under which the candidacy of D. P. Slatery was announced, and he now finds himself in the uncomfortable position of having to bear the burden of the ring rule. The position taken by Capt. Slatery is that he is not responsible for all the actions of his political friends, and the blame for all their doings should not be heaped upon him. Though Pohlmann would have gone into the same scheme to obtain control if none of the announced candidates were in the field, the probability is that Capt. Slatery will be the first beneficiary of this business. Col. J. G. Butler was seen this morning, but has not given up the fight. He said he had nothing to say concerning his opponents, or even concerning his treatment at the hands of the central committee yesterday. He said he had no time at present to make a survey of the field. He would do that later. Mr. C. H. Sampson was at his headquarters, No. 406 North Fourth street. His friends are gathering about him, and propose to wait until the announcement of the nomination next Saturday. They say they will then devote themselves to shooting a Nonsense Sampson.

POHLMANN'S SCHEME.

To-day the Republican voters and even the practical politicians stood astonished at the outrageous scheme of business which Pohlmann has arranged. Filley's hand has been discovered. The Filley-Pohlmann combination as the Republican party in this city at its mercy. Under the present arrangement it will be utterly useless for any candidate for its office, not favored by Filley and Pohlmann, to make any attempt to get a nomination next Saturday. With two or three exceptions the polling places on next Friday afternoon will be named by judges and clerks selected by Pohlmann. In a few of the wards in which Pohlmann could have dictated the names of the judges, the privilege was waived and independent, respectable citizens were named. The representation allowed in these wards is small and the combination will have such an overwhelming majority from other wards that it will make no difference what the result in these wards is. Localities may be. Some of the judges may consequently be relied on to give a fair deal. It was decided by the Republican City Committee several weeks ago to postpone action until the Democratic named their ticket. This would give the Republican convention an opportunity to improve on the mistakes of the opposition and to present to the voters of the city a ticket which would shine by comparison. Suddenly it was decided to hold the committee meeting to make the arrangements yesterday morning. No notice was given to the candidates of the secret meeting at Turner Hall except through the information given to the press which was accidentally dropped by one of the ringsters and published in the ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH. The city has been given out that judges of the primaries and polling places would be fixed at this meeting. This was important to the candidates for the various offices. It was expected that each of the candidates for first place on the ticket would be permitted to name a judge at the primary to see that his vote for his delegation was counted. The scheme did not contemplate this. The request of two of the candidates was refused. The committee then proceeded to fix the arrangements for the primaries and convention. This was how it was done: It was decided to fix the basis of representation at one delegate to every 100 Republican voters cast at the last election. This will make up a convention of 80 delegates, among whom fifty or seventy-five reputable and respected citizens may be sprinkled without the slightest danger to the programme of the ringsters. Polling places were then fixed in the strongholds of the Filley-Pohlmann crowd in the wards. Judges of election were then selected. This was how it was done: Deputy Sheriff Dan Brady named the three judges for the First Ward. Central Committee member Louis Wittenberg, who is a defiant anti-Pohlmann man, named the judges for the Second Ward, and a few minutes after the committee adjourned, was told that his political career would soon be cut short. Central Committee member Henry Peterson named the judges in the Third Ward, and Committee member G. D. Bierman and George F. Decker for the Fourth and Fifth Wards, respectively. The selections were not objected to.

Deputy Sheriff Charles H. Mohling named the two polling places and the six judges for the Sixth Ward. Charles Gundlach and George W. Fritsch were appointed in the Seventh Ward. Both are Pohlmann men who may be relied upon. Gundlach's father will be sent to the House of Delegates again. Fritsch's father used to be market master under the last Republican administration when Filley had influence at the City Hall. Charles Schorbeck, who is also a judge, has divided the honors and patronage of the ward with Peter Gundlach, the father of the House of Delegates.

The Seventh ward and Eighth ward judges and clerks were appointed by Committee member John A. Herald and Irish Land, both of whom gave Pohlmann great help last November. Deputy Sheriff Julius Wunzenberg, named the polling places and judges for the Ninth Ward. They will see that Pohlmann's delegates get no influence on next Friday. One of the judges is in the horse business near Pohlmann's on Broadway.

The Ninth Ward judges were named by Hans F. Kohring. Kohring is a candidate for City Marshal and will not be in the office. He has been engaged with Ed Fox in Now, he says, the same Ministers come forward, saying the navy is dangerously weak. This shows that they have no fixed standard for the requisite naval strength of the Empire. In spite of Churchill's brave words the Liberals distrust his sticking to his guns, and if the Government should in reality be in a tight place they think he would back down. He denies that but says he would do down the Tories.

who are joined with the company and unknown have acquired certain shares at a price above the par value of the stock the par value of which is $10, but which they paid much less than $10 per share. The company is not to be liable for the full amount of the par value of the shares which it has issued, but has never been paid. The corporation has books in which are recorded the number of shares held by each individual shareholder and the price paid by each, and the corporation claims that the stockholders are liable for the full amount of the par value of the shares which they have acquired.

debts of the company to the extent amount that may be unpaid on the stock by them. The petition concludes with a prayer for a judgment against the stockholders jointly and severally for the amount of the plaintiff's judgment and costs. Judge Tison, who wrote the opinion, says the difficulty of gathering a cause of action against the stockholders is such that the petition is that it nowhere alleges facts which entitle the plaintiff to relief in strict terms that any shareholders of the poration are indebted to the corporation respect to their shares. It charges the shareholders have paid for their shares less than $10 per share, the par value shares, but it does not charge that they the shares of the corporation at less than the par value, or that the corporation issued any shares at less than par value that the shareholders are the holders of such shares. A MULE CASE.

The case of L. F. Nickey against the

of the train, on the demand of

In this telegram, delivered them to the mules were sold. Nickes, a railroad company for their value, a defendant asked the court to instruct that if Spinkes was a Deputy Sheriff of Stoddard County and he seized the mules on the authority of a telegram from the Sheriff of Butler County, and Spinkes represented to the conductor that the mules were his property, the conductor would be liable for the mules.

authority to seize the mules, and refused to allow him to proceed unless the mules were delivered to him, then the defendant was liable. The refusal of the court to give such instruction is one of the grounds on which reversal is asked. Judge Biggs, who wrote the opinion, says that a common-law plea of privilege to be released from liability, to show that the goods were taken by due process of law, and if he surrenders the goods under such circumstances he is guilty of a trespass and is not liable. The court refused to permit the answer to such a transaction.

The ship to the heavy British ironclad, Sultan.

NEW YORK, March 19.—The running ashore in the Mediterranean Sea of the heavy British ironclad Sultan has been kept quiet as possible by the British Admiralty, for the loss of the finest war vessels in the British navy, and that, too, in a sea so well tracked as the Mediterranean, is supposed to reflect seriously on the British service. Private information received yesterday shows that there are now some hopes evinced in official circles for the recovery of the Sultan, and to accomplish this a fleet of seven war vessels of the fleet is being sent to the aid of the Sultan, all under the command of the Duke of Edinburgh. The ironclad Sultan is a vessel of 9,200 tons displacement and carries a battery of nineteen guns. She was attached to the Mediterranean Squadron under command of Capt. Ernest Rice, and carried a crew all told of 125 men. She was captured on the night of April 20, 1892, and since that time has been actively employed on duty up the Mediterranean. She was captured by the Italian torpedo boat, the Albatross, on the night of April 20, 1892, and since that time has been actively employed on duty up the Mediterranean. A meeting With Closed Doors.
It has just leaked out that a secret meeting of merchant tailors was held night before last to take steps preventing the Globe Shoe and Clothing Co., 705 to 715 Franklin avenue, from slaughtering five Baltimore Merchant Tailors which that firm is now selling for such ruinous prices as $12.50 to $25. Those goods were made up in the dull season by unemployed tailors of the Baltimore area, and the exclusive agency for them. The tailors claim it is ruining them, as they cannot make them for double the amount at the present busy season.

BIRMINGHAM.
American base ball players left London at 9:45 o'clock yesterday morning in a special train, composed of four family, two dining and two luggage cars. There were eight people in each of the passenger coaches, which were luxuriously furnished. On the lower panel of each coach were the words: "The American Base Ball Club." There was a crowd at the depot and when the train started three rousing cheers for the players were given.

Ned Williamson remained behind, but will join the party at Liverpool. The injury he received in France may not heal until the League season opens.

Correspondents of the London Sporting Life and the London Sportman are traveling with the teams and much interest is shown in the tour. The trip to Birmingham was greeted with enthusiasm. The morning was bright and clear and the train sped along through the beautiful country at the rate of forty miles an hour without scarcely a jolt being felt.

All along the route crowds of people gathered and gazed at the train in wonder. A five minutes' stop was made at Rugby, which gave the boys a chance to get a hasty view of the famous institution. The run from London to Birmingham, 115 miles, was made in 2 hours and 45 minutes.
